Monthly report

April 2023

Financial markets update

In April, risk asset returns in developed markets were mostly positive, while defensive assets also provided modest gains. Emerging market equities were lower than their developed market counterparts on the weakness in Chinese stocks

News flow during April was fairly quiet until the last week of the month when banking concerns resurfaced, as First Republic Bank came under pressure and was ultimately acquired by JP Morgan. Equity market volatility ended the month at its lowest level since late-2021, despite a brief spike during the last week of the month. Major economies remained resilient, driven largely by service activity. US GDP for Q1 2023 rose at a 1.1% annualized rate, which was below expectations. Consumer confidence remained on the rise and labour markets remained tight, in spite of high profile layoffs in the US.

Headline inflation continued to decline in major economies, reaching 5.0% in the US, which is its lowest level since mid-2021. In the UK, inflation fell by less than expected and remained above 10.0%, the highest rate in major developed economies. The People's Bank of China and Reserve Bank of Australia left key lending rates unchanged.

Over April, Hedged Developed Markets Overseas Shares returned 1.6%, even though the US earnings season delivered a fair number of positive EPS surprises relative to expectations, the earnings decline over the first quarter is set to be the largest since the second quarter of 2020. Returns were positive for most sectors with consumer staples delivering the largest gains for the month. Value outperformed growth among large and mid-cap stocks, while growth outperformed among small-caps.

Emerging Market Shares (UH) underperformed unhedged Overseas Shares in April. Weakness in China outweighed better performance for India and Brazil.

Hedged Overseas Government Bonds returned 0.2% over the month as Bond yields generally saw modest changes for most countries during the month. In the US, the 10-year bond yield fell by 4bps, while the 30-year yield was flat. In developed markets outside the US, 10-year yields rose by 6bps for Japan and 23bps for the UK. US inflation expectations, as measured by the 10-year inflation breakeven rate, fell from 2.3% to 2.2%. Australian Government Bonds were flat over the month.

Lending conditions remain somewhat stressed due to banking concerns but bond markets have remained fairly calm. Credit spreads generally declined during the month, with investment-grade spreads falling 2bps and high yield spreads declining 3bps.

Australian Shares returned 1.8%, underperforming their overseas counterparts in April. Real Estate (5.2%) and IT (4.5%) were the strongest sectors, meanwhile Materials (-2.6%), and Utilities (1.4%) were the largest detractors.
