September 2023

Financial markets update

In Australia, short term economic indicators were mixed. Business activity across the services sector expanded in September, whilst the manufacturing sector remains contracted. Persistent growth in housing prices (0.9% month-on-month (MoM)), a tight labour market and positive wage pressures have helped support an increase in consumer spending. Notably, inflation moved higher to 5.2% p.a. in August, up from a 4.9% p.a. in July. The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) left interest rates steady at 4.1%, noting the need to consider the implications of further lagged effects from previous increases in interest rates on household spending and inflation.

At their August meeting, the US Federal Reserve (Fed) decided to keep rates unchanged at 5.25%. Fed Chair Jerome Powell continued to reiterate that they will do whatever it takes to bring inflation back in line with the Fed's 2.0% target. Interest rates in Europe moved higher to 4.5%, though the European Central Bank (ECB) was more dovish, signalling a likely pause in interest rates going forward.

Market review

In September global equities (-3.8%) trended down in most regions, mainly driven by the US Fed signalling no immediate end in the current high level of US rates at its August meeting: with the Information Technology and Utilities sectors the notable underperformers. The Australian share market also declined (-2.9%) despite the RBA keeping interest rates unchanged. Notable declines for the Australian market were within Information Technology, Health Care and Telecommunications sectors.

Worldwide, government bond yields continued their upward path following the re-setting of higher US interest rate expectations. The Australian 10-year government bond yield increased by 46 basis points to 4.5%. Similarly, the US 10-year government bond yield increased by 47 basis points to 4.6%, the highest level since 2007. The move higher in US yields resulted in a stronger USD with the Australian dollar (AUD) depreciating to around 64 US cents. Commodities were mixed with oil prices up 9.7% to US$95.31/barrel, following supply cuts announced by the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). Iron Ore prices were also stronger (1.7%) following some supply disruptions, while gold and copper prices fell over the month (-4.8% and -2.2% respectively), as Chinese demand continued to soften.
